

MR. JONES VS. MR. FLOWER.

Each Contradicts the Other as to His Own Candidacy for Governor.

Widely Diverse Interpretations of a Private Conversation.

Gov. Jones' canvass for the Democratic nomination for Governor is an amazing feat for the politician. He has positively announced that he is in the race for the nomination, and is apparently very sanguine of success.

In the popular mind Congressman Rowell F. Flower's name has been prominently associated with the next battle for the Governorship. In truth, it is thought by many that in Mr. Flower the Democratic Government would find its strongest opponent in the Convention.

Gov. Jones, however, is confident that Mr. Flower is not in the fight. To a reporter he said:

"I told Mr. Flower frankly that I expected to be nominated. He assured me that he was not a candidate for the nomination, and should do nothing to secure it. He was content, with his position in Congress, and desired to remain there."

He fully recognized my claims to the nomination and my strength with the people. He hoped I would get it, and as he knew of no man who could pull so large a vote as I."

Mr. Flower is a sensible, gentleman, and I feel that I can depend on these assurances from him."

That there is a misunderstanding, of that there has been ambiguity of expression in the interview between Mr. Jones and Mr. Flower, is evident from Mr. Flower's language when the statement of Gov. Jones was shown to him by a reporter.

"I never told him that I would not run for Governor. Last Summer Mr. Jones asked me to support him. I told him that I could not support him, and that I would not run for Governor. I am a candidate, principally because of Gov. Flower's statement. I feel that Mr. Flower's statement is a misstatement, and I feel that I can depend on these assurances from him."

It is a very pretty fight thus far, and each gentleman is receiving assurances of support that encourage him to continue in the prospective strength in the Convention.

NEARLY KILLED THE ROBBER.

A One-Armed Veteran Saves His Pension Money from a Thief.

Joseph Phillips, a one-armed veteran of the war, living at Nyack, was held by Police Officer Wanser in Jersey City this morning charged with robbing William Dorgan, alias "Junkie," in the face and also inflicting a severe wound in the right side of the neck, barely escaping the fatal result.

Phillips whose right arm is amputated below the elbow, owing to a wound received in the battle of the Wilderness, said that yesterday he came to New York and collected his three months pension money at the United States office in Canal street.

He then went over to Jersey to visit his sister, Mrs. Nelson, at Loberg. He stayed into Mrs. Morant's saloon at Concord street and Railroad avenue, where there was a lot of men, whom he treated, and very foolishly exhibited his money, which included four $20 gold pieces.

"One fellow, Dorgan," said Phillips, "came up behind me, snatched his hand down my left-hand pocket and stole my purse, containing the money. I tried to get up, but he was standing around me. Then I pulled out my knife and stabbed him. He fell down, and I ran out of the saloon."

Dorgan is in the hospital, but will probably recover. He is under arrest on Phillips' charge of robbery. When he was taken to the hospital, a silver dollar was found tightly clutched in one of his hands, and he had also given a silver dollar covered with blood to one of the saloon keepers.

BEATING A CABBIE.

Jason Brown Wanted to Get the Full Worth of His Money.

Even if Representative Jason B. Brown does come from a rural district in Indiana, he has not the least bit of a rural habit. He is a Washington Post.

A few days ago he hired a cab in front of the Riggs house and drove around where he expected to meet a friend. But his friend was not there, and he drove back to the hotel as usual.

"How much?" he asked the cabman. "Seventy-five cents," said the cabman. "Oh, no," said Brown. "You can only charge seventy-five cents an hour."

"That is the case," said Mr. Brown. "You can wait here for the balance of the hour. I will be in the hotel when you get back. Then he disappeared through the doorway.

In less than fifteen minutes the cabby capitulated. "Give me twenty-five cents and I will go away," he said. He got his money and departed.

WEIGHED IN THE BALANCE AND FOUND WANTING.

He-True, he hasn't any money; but he's a gentleman by birth, isn't he?

Yes-True, he hasn't any money; but he's a gentleman by birth, isn't he?

Yes-True, he hasn't any money; but he's a gentleman by birth, isn't he?

SAM KINGMAN'S SHOT.

A Tale of the Backwoods Which Contains a Romance.

In the doorway of a cabin which nestled at the very foot of the great mountains of New Hampshire, stood a man and a woman as the sun was going down.

Three years before they had come from the settlement down by the sea to the wilds that surrounded them; and by dint of hard work and perseverance they had made a large clearing in the narrow valley and erected for themselves a comfortable home.

They were in the very prime of life. Hardly a silver thread was yet to be seen about their brows, and their forms were still as upright as the forest trees. Their names were Reuben and Ruth Mason; and for nearly a score of years they had been man and wife.

Only one child had been given them, and she was the very apple of their eye. She was seventeen now; and a

FOREIGN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Dynamite Bombs Reported Seized in an Argentine City.

Official Statistics on the Work of Koch's Lymph in Germany.

London, March 6.—Private advice received from Buenos Ayres reports a startling condition of affairs.

Another outbreak is expected hourly and the citizens are in a ferment of excitement and fear.

Among the current and disturbing rumors to-day is one that Señor Lopez, Minister of Finance, has resigned, and is to be succeeded by Señor Urriburu. The premium on gold to-day closed at 274.

A rumor has reached Buenos Ayres that thirty dynamite bombs have been seized by Government police at Córdoba.

Official Reports of Koch's Lymph

Treatment in Germany.

BERLIN, March 6.—The official reports called for by Dr. von Goessler, Minister of Education, from the clinics of all Prussian Universities and Pathological Institutes on the efficiency of Dr. Koch's lymph treatment, close of 1890, have been published by Prof. Guttauer. Up to the time named about 17,500 injections were made on the persons of 2,172 patients, the greatest number received by any one person being fifty-four and the largest number of grammes administered being 84.5.

Of 1,070 patients, suffering from laryngeal tuberculosis, 13 were cured; 171 considerably improved; 194 improved; 586 not improved; and 43 died.

Of 708 afflicted with external tuberculosis, 15 were cured; 148 considerably improved; 237 improved; 298 did not improve; and 9 died.

REPORTS OF OMINOUS ACTIVITY IN FRENCH MILITARY AFFAIRS.

PARIS, March 6.—It has been learned that ever since the first outbreak of irritation at the visit of the ex-Empress Frederick to this city, work has been purged with redoubled activity in the Government military factories and depots.

New hands have been put on the cartridge works to fill as speedily as possible orders issued by the Minister of War.

HIS TESTIMONY AGAINST LINGO.

Dr. Isard Gives Damaging Evidence in the Murder Trial.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 6.—Dr. Isard, the County Physician, continued his testimony this morning in the Lingo-Miller murder trial.

The substance of his statement was that the wounds in murdered Anne Miller's hand were such as could only have been naturally made by a knife. They could hardly have been made by an instrument.

Dr. Isard on Lingo's clothing, which had been examined by him were also described. The scrapings of blood under the fingernails were minutely inquired into by Judge Westbrook.

"These scrapings of specimens, that are relied upon by the prosecution as an important link in their chain of evidence, are in possession of Prof. Forman, of the University of Pennsylvania, a microscopic expert who will be called by the State."

Dr. Isard's testimony was not materially shaken by cross-examination.

M'CANN GIVES HIS SIDE.

Says His Hotel Was Attached on a Preposterous Claim.

Brother-in-law Patrick McCann is making determined efforts to oust Deputy Sheriff McShan's man from the Hotel Lincoln, at Fifty-second street and Broadway, which was attached yesterday on a judgment of $3,000 given by Judge Henry Jones, of the Supreme Court, in a case brought by the hotel against Mr. McShan, who, as he did not pay, I told him to quit the hotel and get out of the city."

"This judgment was got while I was taking steps to contest it, and was not got in due form. It will be set aside."

THE BEST protection against sudden changes in the weather is to purify the blood with

AYER'S Sarsaparilla.

It vitalizes and enriches the life-current, and makes the weak strong.

Has Cured Others will cure you.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

It is the best medicine for the blood.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH.

They Perished in the Blazing Steamer City of Richmond.

One Body Not Yet Recovered—Extent of the Damage by the Fire.

It is learned to-day that the burning of the Hartford steamer City of Richmond, at pier 24 East River, yesterday afternoon, was attended with greater loss of life than had been reported.

Capt. May and Parer Strong late last night had concluded that all of the crew had been accounted for, and the bodies of the two colored waiters, who were suffocated in their berths. This morning, however, they learned that another member of the crew had not been seen or heard from.

He was on the burned boat a few minutes before the flames were discovered, and there is ground for the belief that his body is somewhere in the blackened wreck.

Laurence Lampton, colored, is the missing man. He is about thirty-five years old, and a native of Charleston, S. C.

Lampton was a half-watchman and only because a member of the crew last Monday.

The bodies of the two colored waiters, who were on the wreck late last night and perished at the station of the Steamboat Squad at Pier A North River. This morning they were removed to the Morgue.

The burned vessel is a complete wreck. She is fast "spreading," and her hull is deep in the mud at the foot of the pier. She is still moored to her pier, and her charred hull is filled with water.

The new steamer New York, which rendered such great service yesterday afternoon, and a Chapman wrecking lighter lay alongside the City of Richmond this morning. A half-dozen men were on the lighters, and were removing such portions of the cargo as was removable as can be gotten out of the hull.

The steamer City of Richmond was the property of the body of Lampton, but had not succeeded up to 10 o'clock.

What caused the fire among the piles of cotton on the main deck remains a mystery. Spontaneous combustion is supposed to have been its origin, while it is claimed by others that a lighted match, carelessly thrown near the cotton, started the flames.

The cargo was valued at $100,000, and among other things comprised 250 barrels of sugar, 200 bales of cotton and twenty-five cases of rubber, all of which was completely destroyed.

The manifests and other papers were lost in the fire.

The vessel will have to be rebuilt, and a new set of machinery put in.

The City of Richmond was valued at $150,000. She was built at Chester, Pa., nine years ago, and purchased in 1887 by the Hartford Transportation Company for $100,000.

She was damaged about $100,000 worth, and is partly insured. She was 845 feet long, sixty feet beam, ten feet deep, of 1,000 tons burden.

HE MAY BOMBARD GOV. HILL.

But Bulkeley, of Connecticut, Will Get No Extraditions.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 6.—The announcement coming from Connecticut that Mr. Bulkeley, in his role of acting Governor, will continue to bombard Gov. Hill with requisition papers has not disturbed in the slightest degree the equilibrium of New York's Executive.

In effect, Gov. Hill has said for the benefit of Bulkeley and all others interested in the matter that he has marked out a course which he firmly believes to be founded on correct principles and on a just interpretation of law and precedent.

The exhaustive review of the matter which he put in form yesterday in connection with the case, included the results of a very careful analysis of statutes bearing on extradition questions and the recognition of official requests from one State to another.

Gov. Hill takes pains to show that it is not discourtesy or protest any state's fugitive criminal which he intends to convey. Rather, with acting with a careful eye to his own responsibilities, he seeks to recognize, so far as the officer of one State may take cognizance of the affairs of another State, that Connecticut is laboring under a condition of partisan oppression and is deprived of the services of her rightfully elected Executive.

The matter is considered here, and probably elsewhere, as involving the most crucial test of firmness and consistency to which a Governor was ever subjected.

The possibility is hinted at that the complications which have arisen may yet result in another session of the conference of Governors which at Gov. Hill's suggestion, was held in August, 1887, to consider the subject of extradition and to formulate rules and principles for the guidance of State Executives in their action on requisitions.

A RAT TURNS THIEF.

Mrs. I. J. Fluke was the victim of a bold and daring attempt at robbery.

At about eight o'clock last evening, Mrs. I. J. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, she found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

Upon retiring she placed the watch on a dresser in the sitting room. About midnight Mr. Fluke was awakened by a noise in the room. Turning on the light, he found the thief was a big rat, and the plunder which he nearly succeeded in carrying away was the lady's gold watch and chain.

BROOKLYN'S DARK BLUE COAT.

The First Colored Policeman in the City of Churches.

Willey Granda Overton Sworn Into Office This Morning.

Willey Granda Overton, Brooklyn's first colored policeman, took the oath of office before Commissioner Hayden this morning. He swore that he would support the Constitution of the United States and the State of New York; that he had not paid nor agreed to pay any money or other consideration for his appointment, and that he was not interested, directly or indirectly, in the sale of spirituous or malt liquors.

For seven years he has been in the police office as a messenger, and at his conclusion received the congratulations of several police officers who were about headquarters.

"I don't know why I should have any trouble as a policeman," said Policeman Overton to an EVENING WORLD reporter. "How can I find out?"

In answer to questions Policeman Overton said he was thirty-one years old, born at Elizabeth City, N. C. He attended the public schools of Elizabeth from his seventh to his twelfth year. His people then moved to Brooklyn, and the boy continued his studies for two years at Brooklyn schools.

The bodies of the two colored waiters, who were on the wreck late last night and perished at the station of the Steamboat Squad at Pier A North River. This morning they were removed to the Morgue.

The burned vessel is a complete wreck. She is fast "spreading," and her hull is deep in the mud at the foot of the pier. She is still moored to her pier, and her charred hull is filled with water.

The new steamer New York, which rendered such great service yesterday afternoon, and a Chapman wrecking lighter lay alongside the City of Richmond this morning. A half-dozen men were on the lighters, and were removing such portions of the cargo as was removable as can be gotten out of the hull.

The steamer City of Richmond was the property of the body of Lampton, but had not succeeded up to 10 o'clock.

What caused the fire among the piles of cotton on the main deck remains a mystery. Spontaneous combustion is supposed to have been its origin, while it is claimed by others that a lighted match, carelessly thrown near the cotton, started the flames.

The cargo was valued at $100,000, and among other things comprised 250 barrels of sugar, 200 bales of cotton and twenty-five cases of rubber, all of which was completely destroyed.

The manifests and other papers were lost in the fire.

The vessel will have to be rebuilt, and a new set of machinery put in.

The City of Richmond was valued at $150,000. She was built at Chester, Pa., nine years ago, and purchased in 1887 by the Hartford Transportation Company for $100,000.

She was damaged about $100,000 worth, and is partly insured. She was 845 feet long, sixty feet beam, ten feet deep, of 1,000 tons burden.

FROM THE WORLD OF LABOR.

The rights of the capitalists are the wrongs of the workmen.

Four quarters were granted to newly organized unions by the International Brotherhood of Carriers and Messengers Union.

The plans for a public park proposed by the Trades Assembly of Longport have been adopted by the Common Council of that city.

A National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized. The firm of the National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized. The firm of the National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized.

The recent reductions of wages at the Glendon Works near Easton, Pa., has brought some of the workmen to the aid of the strikers. The recent reductions of wages at the Glendon Works near Easton, Pa., has brought some of the workmen to the aid of the strikers.

The National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized. The firm of the National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized. The firm of the National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized.

The recent reductions of wages at the Glendon Works near Easton, Pa., has brought some of the workmen to the aid of the strikers. The recent reductions of wages at the Glendon Works near Easton, Pa., has brought some of the workmen to the aid of the strikers.

The National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized. The firm of the National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized. The firm of the National Union of Carriage-makers and Wheelwrights has been organized.

FOUND HIS FATHER HANGING.

John Manz, Crazed with Pain, Had Ended His Life.

Crazed with pain and worried by a frightful disfigurement of the face, John Manz, a tailor, living at 303 Bushwick avenue, Brooklyn, sought relief this morning by suicide.

The victim was 48 years old. He was afflicted with cancer, and for the past two years had been a constant sufferer. Last evening he retired at 11 o'clock, but was heard moving around shortly after midnight.

At 6 o'clock this morning his son John went to his room to call him and found his father hanging from a gas pipe in the middle of the room.

Manz had stood on a chair to tie the rope to the gas pipe, and after attaching it to his belt, pushed the chair from under him.

Warmer and Snow.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.—Weather indications.

For Eastern New York: fair, northerly winds; stormy and a few showers on Saturday and Sunday.

The following record shows the changes in temperature for the past twenty-four hours, in comparison with the corresponding hours of last year:

1890.	1891.
84.	74.
74.	64.
64.	54.
54.	44.
44.	34.
34.	24.
24.	14.
14.	4.

Take it easy, Hungry friend, Over haste your strength Will spend; Don't worry; for it takes, You know, But three minutes to cook H-O.

A cough or cold is a spy which has stealthily come inside the lines of health and is there to discover some vulnerable point in the fortification of the constitution which is guarding your well-being.

That point discovered the spy reports it to the enemy on the outside. The enemy is the changeable winter climate. If the cold gets in, look out for an attack at the weak point. To avoid this, shoot the spy, kill the cold, using SCOTT'S EMULSION of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda as the weapon. It is an expert cold slayer, and fortifies the system against Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility, and all Anæmic and Wasting Diseases (especially in Children). Especially helpful for children to prevent their taking cold. Palatable as Milk.

CAUTION.—Scott's Emulsion is put up in salmon-colored wrappers. Be sure and get the genuine. Prepared only by Scott & Bowne, Manufacturing Chemists, New York. All Druggists.

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt

THE ONLY 43 Goodyear Welt</